Zine Library News

We received our first financial donation to the Barnard Zine Library! We now have a dedicated fund. If you want to contribute to it (currently we're envisioning the fund supporting part-time labor, but we also have our eyes on a  cute risograph ) go to <https://barnard.edu/give> and indicate that you want your gift to go to the Barnard Zine Library fund.

Zine Library Curator Jenna Freedman published a book chapter, "The Barnard Zine Library: The Controlled and the Wild" in Zines in Libraries: Selecting, Purchasing, and Processing from ALA Editions in December 2021.

Ace Zines

With Valentines Day around the corner, society's focus on conventional heteronormative romance is at an all time high. This February, we're focusing on stories that challenge that paradigm with a list of Barnard Library Zines about asexuality & aromanticism. Check out some of our recommendations below!

Licking Stars off Ceilings #5 (Riot Grrrl is Not Dead) by Clementine Cannibal

Review by: Maura Mulholland '25

This issue of Licking Stars off Ceilings is a quest for validation and love in a sexual society based around the needs of men. Using her own experiences with pleasure, personal relationships, and her employment at a sex shop, Clementine compares and rejects the binarism of the sexes' approaches to pursuing their carnal desires. This zine is decisive proof that riot grrrl lives on in at least one girl.
